

Dr Jacqueline Anne Goldswain is a South African Specialist Physician (Internal Medicine) and Fellow of the College of Physicians of South Africa (FCP(SA)), in private practice. She obtained her MBChB from the University of the Witwatersrand and completed specialist training through the Colleges of Medicine of South Africa.

She is the owner and director of Dr JA Goldswain Inc, with extensive experience in the management of complex internal medicine patients across outpatient, general ward, high-care, and ICU settings. Her clinical expertise spans cardiometabolic disease, infectious diseases, stroke care, and antimicrobial stewardship.

Dr Goldswain has held senior public-sector leadership roles, including Deputy Head of the Department of Internal Medicine at Sebokeng Hospital, and currently serves on key hospital committees, including antibiotic stewardship and COVID-19 clinical governance. She is actively involved in clinical research as a principal and sub-investigator in studies including RSV, tuberculosis, multiple sclerosis, COPD, and COVID-19 vaccine research, and has completed Good Clinical Practice (GCP) training.

An experienced medical educator and speaker, Dr Goldswain has delivered numerous accredited educational presentations to healthcare professionals, chaired and facilitated scientific meetings, and contributed faculty expertise at national and international congresses. Her work is grounded in evidence-based, patient-centred care, with a strong commitment to medical education and quality improvement.
